

Presents

Religious Pluralism without Relativism

Co-sponsored with the Comparative Theology section of the Boston College Theology Department

Monday, February 19, 2007 – 4 to 6 p.m.

Boston College: location TBA

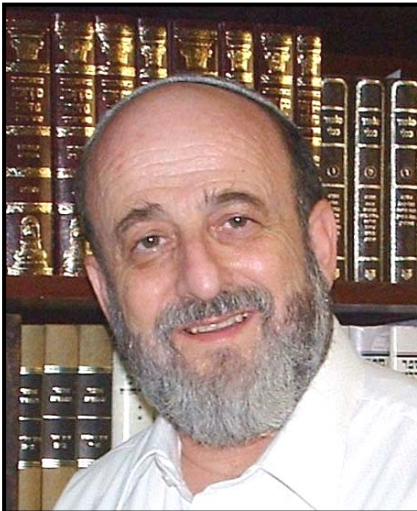

The Significance of Jerusalem in Judaism, Christianity, and Islam

Co-sponsored with the Boston College Coalition for Israel

Monday, February 19, 2007 – 7:30 to 9 p.m.

Boston College: location TBA

Open to the public.

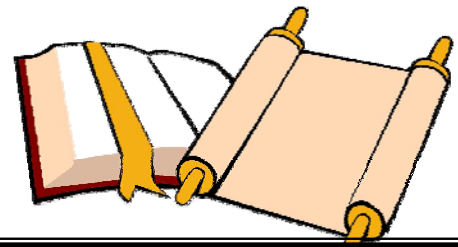

Dr. Raphael Jospe is a professor of Jewish philosophy at Bar Ilan University in Israel. He is also the editor of the Jewish Philosophy Division of the revised edition of the Encyclopedia Judaica. Prof. Jospe is the author of a 3-volume Hebrew history of Jewish philosophy in the Middle Ages, and author or editor of eight books in English, including: Torah and Sophia: The Life and Thought of Shem Tov ibn Falaquera; What is Jewish Philosophy?; Paradigms in Jewish Philosophy; and co-author of Covenant and Chosenness in Judaism and Mormonism. His presentations at Boston College will draw upon his considerable experience in interreligious collaboration, including his current service as chair of the Jerusalem Rainbow Group (the oldest Christian-Jewish dialogue group in Jerusalem).

For more information visit the Center's website

www.bc.edu/cjlearning

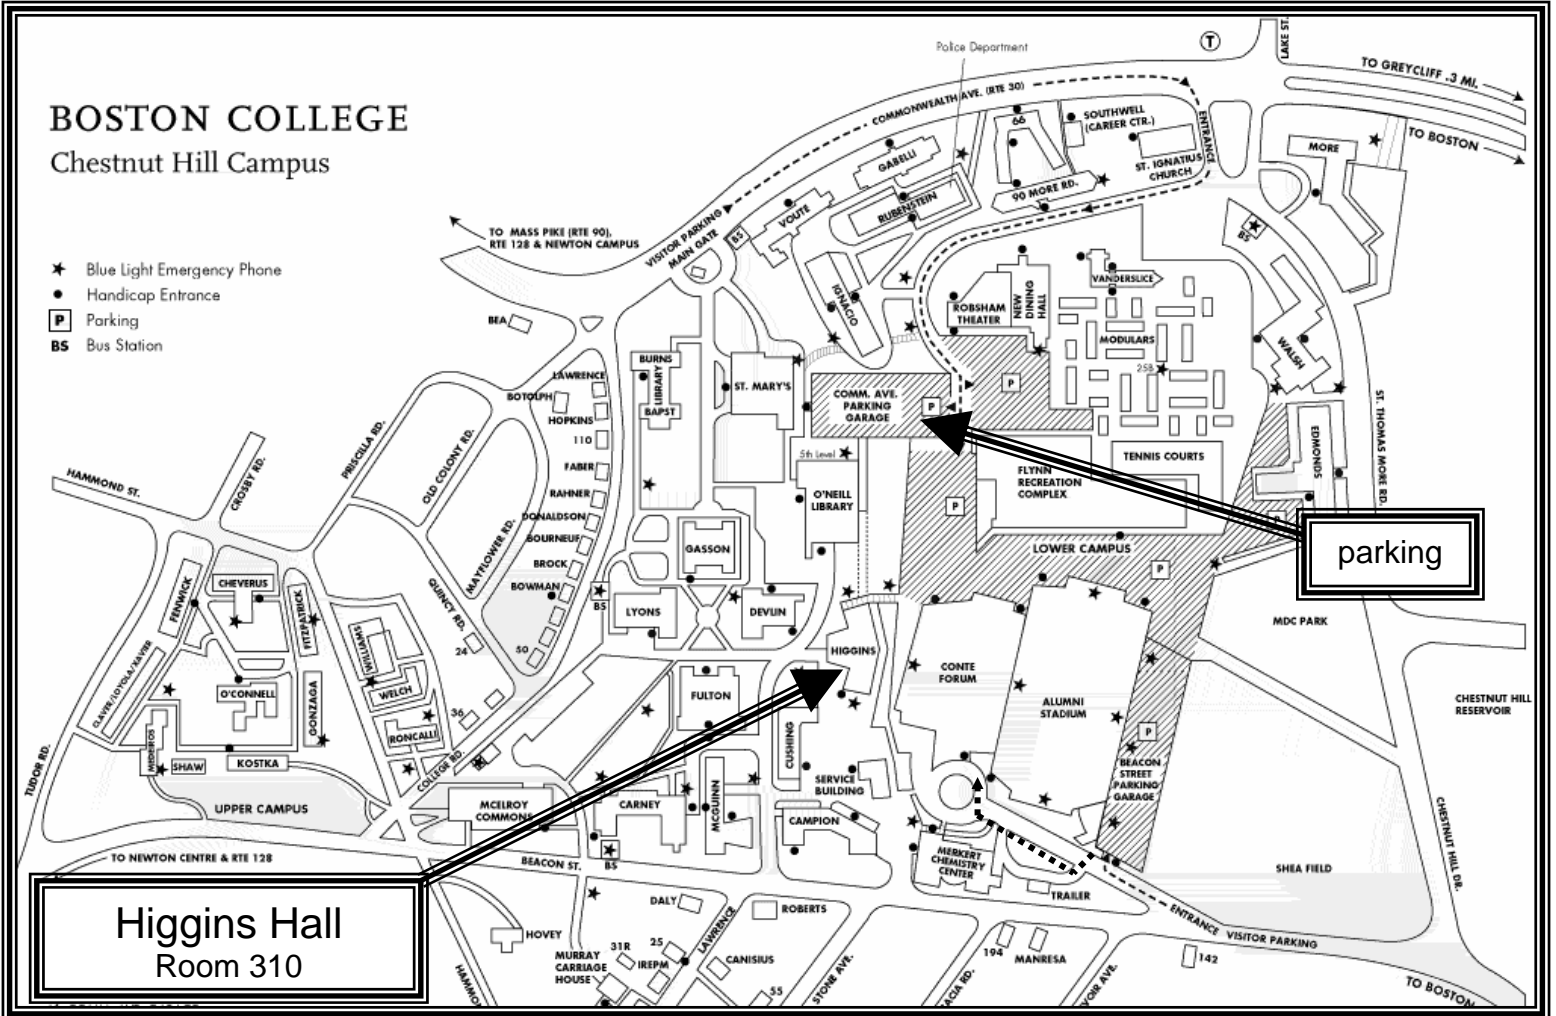

or call (617) 552-4495

BOSTON COLLEGE

Chestnut Hill Campus

- ★ Blue Light Emergency Phone
- Handicap Entrance
- P Parking
- BS Bus Station

Center for Christian-Jewish Learning
 Boston College
 Theology Dept. – Carney Hall
 Chestnut Hill, MA 02467