Bretzke’s Media Bio
Rev. James T. Bretzke, S.J., S.T.D. is currently Professor of Moral Theology at Boston College’s graduate School of Theology and Ministry. He is the author of ninety articles/reviews and seven books including A Morally Complex World: Engaging Contemporary Moral Theology and Consecrated Phrases: A Latin Theological Dictionary (3 editions) and A Handbook of Roman Catholic Moral Terms. Prior to joining the Boston College faculty he did his doctorate at the Pontifical Gregorian University in Rome, where he also taught for three years. Following his work in Rome, Father Bretzke came to the Graduate Theological Union and the Jesuit School of Theology-at-Berkeley in 1993, where he taught for a decade before moving to the University of San Francisco where he also served as Chair of the Department of Theology & Religious Studies. He has also taught for several years in Seoul, Korea at Sogang University and as a Visiting Professor of Moral Theology at the Loyola School of Theology of the Ateneo de Manila, Philippines. On the weekends, Father Bretzke works at St. Michael's Parish in Bedford, MA. He has appeared on numerous radio programs while his expertise has been cited in such publications as the Wall Street Journal, Reuters, Associated Press, Time Magazine, New York Times, Washington Post, Boston Globe, USA Today, International Business Times, U.S. News & World Report, Catholic News Agency, National Catholic Register, Los Angeles Times, San Francisco Chronicle, along with numerous television and radio segments including NPR and MSNBC.

*40+ minute phone interview, plus follow-up e-mail, with Lisa Wangsness of the Boston Globe on Catholic voting guidelines, considerations, practices, etc. in the 2016 federal election. October 5, 2016.

*30+ minute phone interview with Michelle Smith of AP on how Pope Francis’ new tone on gays is playing out locally, in parishes. While the more welcoming attitude has heartened some members of the church, the reality on the ground seems to be more complicated. Those tensions are playing out in Providence, where Michael Templeton, the gay music director of a Catholic church was fired for marrying a man. Templeton’s supporters cite Francis’ words as evidence that the diocese is going against what Pope Francis has said. Meanwhile, the bishop Thomas Tobin cites Pope Francis to justify his actions. August 2, 2016 Interview with Sean Hennessey on the implications of the announcement that Pope Francis has (today) created a 12 person commission to study the possibility of ordaining women to the diaconate.

*May 16, 2016 30 minute phone interview with Denise Lavoie of Associated Press on various questions connected with the aftermath of the SCOTUS decision not to take up the St. Francis Cabrini parish closure case. We discussed a number of questions such as the intent of the former parishioners at St. Francis X. Cabrini to form an independent Catholic church _ with no affiliation with the Archdiocese of Boston _ now that they’ve exhausted their appeals and must leave vacate the church building. How common or uncommon it is to form an independent Catholic church. Did this happen during or after the clergy sex abuse crisis in Boston or elsewhere? Did parishioners of certain parishes become so disillusioned that they formed their own churches? If this has happened before, how do church officials view these worship communities? How would the archdiocese of Boston be likely to see this? Would a priest within the archdiocese be allowed to celebrate Mass or give the sacraments at such a church? Would that be recognized by the archdiocese? Are there priests outside the archdiocese who would be willing to say Mass or give sacraments in an independent church? If so, would the archdiocese consider these valid? -Lindsay Brennan, Carleton University, Ottawa, Canada, on the assessment of Pope Francis’ papacy two years after his election. Done by phone on February 25, 2015.

*Guy Kovner of Santa Rosa Press Democrat e-mail interview on “on the connection between Bishop Vasa, his friend and colleague Archbishop Cordileone and Cardinal Raymond Burke, who served on the Congregation for Bishops from 2009-13, a span that included the appointments of Cordileone and Vasa to their current posts. Burke is regarded as a member of the church’s conservative faction and there are Catholics in Santa Rosa who connect the dots between the three men, suggesting there was a deliberate effort by Burke to place conservative bishops in highly liberal areas. Then came Pope Francis’ appointment of 12 new members to the Congregation for Bishops in December 2013, removing Burke and suggesting a papal intent to overhaul the body that recommends the placement of bishops.” I sent a long e-mail response on March 3, 2015, and had a long follow up phone conversation on March 5, 2015.

*WBUR recorded 7 minute interview on the Church’s understanding and approach to individuals who might be seeking some sort of physical change in the gender make-up (e.g., through drug therapy, hormones, perhaps surgery [though not complete post-operative trans-gender]). Done with Martha Bebinger (marthab@wbur.org) on March 12, 2015. The story ran repeatedly in the “Morning Edition” NPR show on Monday, March 23, 2015. *Interview with Brian Fraga of the Boston Pilot on “what the Catholic faith has to tell us about care for the environment and environmental stewardship. Popes John Paul II and Benedict XVI obviously talked about this issue. How are Catholics to approach this issue, especially in our politically polarized environment?” Brian’s story was published in the June 5, 2015 Boston Pilot. See http://www.thebostonpilot.com/article.asp?ID=173976

*Phone/E-mail interview June 6, 2015 with Brian Fraga from the Boston Pilot on a story related to the changes in the penalties for marijuana and analysis of the push to legalize marijuana in Massachusetts through a Catholic moral lens. Why are drugs wrong? From a Catholic perspective, is smoking marijuana always immoral? How analogous is pot smoking to alcohol drinking, from a moral theologian point of view? Is there a factor of causing scandal, compromising Christian witness to consider? Does it change the moral equation if marijuana is legal and related under civil law? Is the moral equation different for medical marijuana?

*Phone interview June 15, 2015 with Lora Moftah of the International Business Times on the forthcoming Encyclical Laudato Si and also the resignations of Archbishop Nienstedt and Auxiliary Bishop Lee Piché of Minneapolis-St. Paul in the wake of the indictment of the Archdiocese for criminal mis-administration of a clerical sexual abuser.
